AN EFFECTUAL PLEA FOR MERCY. THE DAUGHTER OF A COLLEGE PRESIDENT ON TRIAL FOR TREFT-RER HUSBAND CONVICTED.

The december of a college president on the case of Mrs. Katherine S. Caldwell, who was arraigned with her husband yesterday before Judge Cowing in the Court of General Sessions. Angusta P. Montant, of No. 39 West Twenty-first-st, the complaining witness, employed Mrs. Caldwell as a ceaustress, and afterward missed several valuable priceles of lewelry. Mrs. Caldwell confessed to Detective Price that she had taken the jewelry at the demand of her husband, and had given it to him. The husband told the detective where the goods had been pawned, and surrendered the pawn-tickets. Mrs. Caldwell pleaded guilty and a large number of affidavits were submitted in her behalf. Among the signers were ex-tongressman S. B. Chittenden, of Brooklyn; the Rev. Dr. S. Irenasus Prime. Editor of The New-lork Observer; the Rev. A. H. Bradford, of Monteiair, N. J., Henry A. Morgan and N. Lansing Zabrieskie, of Antora; John Constensen, assistant treasurer of the New-York Central Railroad; Dr. St. Clair Smith, John V. Van Pelt and John Z. Loft. It appeared from the statements made that Mrs. Caldwell was the daughter of the Rev. Dr. W. W. Howard, fornecity the president of Wells College for Young Ladies, at Aurora. N. Y. She was married, about ten years ago, to John H. Caldwell, a member of a wealthy but dissolute family. Her prents were onposed to the marriage. Mrs. Caldwell Eved with her husband's parents, though it is said in the affidavits of her friends that her his was embittered by her husband's treatment, and by the crusken quarrels between him and his father. The property of her husband's family was finally dissipated, and Mr. and Mrs. Caldwell wandered away from their former home. They lived at various places near New-York, and Mrs. Caldwell received some assistance from her father's friends, but they were at last forced to cease giving her money, as her hasband took it to purchase infoxicating liquor. Mrs. Caldwell tried to obtain employment, and acted as housekeeper at a one or two places, but was every-where pursued by her hu

Several of her friends have agreed to assist her, and are confident that she will be able to sustain berself and her children. Distract-Attorney Olney requested that independ he suspended on Mrs. Caldwell's plea of guilty, and Judge Cowing so directed. Her husband pleaded guilty to a charge of receiving stolen goods, and was sentenced by Judge Cowing to two years in the State Prison.

MAY-POLE CEREMONIES IN THE PARK.

THE MADISON SQUARE THEATRE CHILDREN GIVEN AN OUTING-A BIT OF REALISM.

AN OUTING—A BIT OF REALISM.

A bit of the eighteenth century seemed to be transferred to Central Park vesterday. At one end on the lower ball ground stood a May pole, if swey belocked and ribbon-entwined, But instead or red-clocked villag lads and lassies, or powdered Watteau slepherds and shepherdesses, the oldest of whom could not have been over twelve years of age. Children of larger growth there were gathered around a bey of coungsters, the oldest of whom could not have been over twelve years of age. Children of larger growth there were too, and faces familiar enough in the glare of the footlights looked brighter and fresher in the clear, warm May art. The children who are to be seen nightly at the Madison square Theatre burying their dead bird with all socientary, were enjoying a May frolle. They had ridden up to the Park from the Madison Square Theatre in an oranbus, gay with flowers and riboons. They had stopped at every theatre along Broadway and cheered each establishment in turn, bringing those inside to the doors and receiving pleasant saintations in reply. They had descended from their governs charies at the ball ground and now they were walking around and around the May-pole, turning the white and ted ribbons and singing dainy little dittes.

SUICIDE OF A PROSPEROUS GROCER.

The grocery store kept by Lake Burns, at No. 303
East Thirty-third-st., remained closed yesterday morning to the surprise of a number of customers, who tried to get in through the front door. Burns had been seen in his store on Wednesday evening and it was known that he slept in a room in the rear of the store. Roundaman Deeves broke through a rear window and found his dead body on the floor. A large revolver lay beside it and Burns had died from a bullet wound in the head. The police decided that he had committed suicide, but his sister, a servant in the Fifth Avenue Hotel, and some of her friends, declared that he had been murdered by robbers. His sister said that he had a good business and money in the bank. He was in good health and appeared happy on Wednesday. Not long ago he sent money to his wife in Ireland for her to come here, but she refused because she did not wish to leave her relatives. Recently Burns told his sister that he had been robbed of $40 by burglars and that he was being watched and followed by suspicious men. The sister based her theory of murder on those statements. It was said by the police that his relatives did not wish his death called a suicide because such a verdiet would prevent the burial of his body in consecrated ground.

LOW PRICES FOR JERSEY CATTLE.

Easton acted as auctioneer. Sixty head of cattle were to be sold, but there were no bids for four so that the sale covered fifty-six head. The total amount realized was $14,720, an average of $262 85 a head. The highest price realized was $1,500, a head. The highest price realized was $1,500, which J. I. Holly paid for the bull Prince Alphea, by Mercury out of Leda. The bull Chief, by Mercury out of Lady Love, was bought by Hiram P. Hopkins, of Buffalo, for $700.

WHAT THE SIAMESE SAW AND DID. VISITING THE NORMAL COLLEGE-A FIRE DEPART-

VISITING THE NORMAL COLLEGE—A FIRE DEPARTMENT THE NORMAL COLLEGE Chapel Wednesday morning at 9 o'clock, and 3,000 eyes were fastened on a group of swarthy Orientals dressed in London-made clothes. They tooked disappointed as they beheld the far from Hellenie features and striped tronsers, but lightened with interest when they had travelled down to the dainty little feet encased in the nattiest of patent-leather shoes of the toote pick order. The Orientals, who all held shiny silk hats in their hands, were members of the Siamese Embassy. Prince Nare, a half brother of the King of Siam, were a scarf pin formed of a diamond studded miniature, which distinguished him from Prince Souapandit, whose scarf pin was formed of diamonds only. Major Shangh, the secretary, who speaks English with a strong Oxford accent, acquired during his term of residence in that venerable University, made up what he lacked in diamonds by the brilliancy of ris check tronsers. The native clerk, Tran, Wilbeforce Wyke, the English secretary. Dr. Chandler, the missionary, Mr. Loffus, an English affache, and Consul J. T. Smith made up the rest of the parity. President Hunter, in a neat little speach, introduced His Royal High-ness, Prince Nare, to the pupils and the papils giggled as his many titles were impressively delivered by the president, who afterward referred to a letter he had read to the pupils in IS78. This letter was received from a Mr. McFarland, who was the head of the school system of Siam, and who had horrowed his methods from the Normal College. Dr. Chandler than spoke for the Frince, who after giving an apprehensive gionce at the 3,000 eyes made up his mind that he had nothing to say. The dector said that when he first went to Siam there was not a woman in the kingdom who could read or write. Now every member of the Royal Household could do both, though not as well, perhaps, as the Normal College girl. At this the L50 MENT EXHIBITION.

Finally the Prince and his companions were taken to Eighteenth st. and Fourth-ave, where an alarm was rung, bringing up Engines 14, 16 and 5, and Hook and Ladder Trucks 3 and 7. An understanding that the double attraction of fatigue drill and parade of the 7th Regiment, and the bress nee of the Siamese Embassy, would distinguish the Armory at Skrty-seventh-st, last evening drew a large company to the armory. The Ambassadors were dressed in the ordinary American street costume. The company tactics and formation into line greatly interested the intelligent Siamese, and their queries showed their appreciation of the only American regiment they had yet

"I am glad I did not strike back," said he later. Before he had a chance to return the compliment, however, the wrath of the Supreme Court fell upon the unhappy pair in the indignant words of Justice Lawrence, who exclaimed: "What's this?"

The court-room stood still, and the Justice proceeded to inform the court officers that if they could not keep beligerent counsel within a due sense of order an army of under-sheriffs would. This decision acted as a stay of proceedings on the lawyers, who quietly withdrew. Mr. Mitchell took the matter without any feelings of pain, except in his chin, and said that, he should not proceed to call Mr. Andrews out. The latter is portly and large framed, weighing as much as 250 pounds. Mr. Mitchell is a feather-weight of a scan hundred pounds. There was a report current about the Court House later in the day that Mr. Andrews had become conscience-stricken, and had handed himself over to the Old Ship Police. The sergeam at the desk said that he had not seen anything of Mr. Andrews during the day. Mr. Andrews during the day.

It was said by the police that the story of a probable murder was preposterous, because the store and bed-room were found securely locked on the inside. There was a suspicion that his relatives did not wish his death called a smelde because such a verdict would prevent the burial of his body in consecrated ground.

LOW PRICES FOR JERSEY CATTLE.

RUMORS ABOUT STEAMSHIPS.

No further news regarding the rumored sale of the Guion Line steamship Oregon to the Cunard Company was known at either of the offices yesterday. Rumors were afloat that the Guion Line had sold the Alaska to the White Star Line, but that was emphatically denied at both offices. Then came rumors that the Arizona had been sold to the Inman Line and that the new National Line steamer had been sold to the State Line. The agents interested denied the stories most emphatically. No one could tell where the rumors started. They scened to be floating in the air.

LABORERS SWINDLED BY AN ADVERTISEMENT.
In answer to an advertisement, 200 Germans on Wednesday went to No. 209 West-st. They were ostensibly engaged to work in Greenpoint at $22 a mouth and board, and were asked to pay fifty cents each for transportation. Nearly all complied. Later they found that the man who took the money had disappeared, and that his companion was on the point of going. The swindled workmen were about to give this man a beating, when Officer Tale, of the Fifth Precinct, arrested him. He said that he was Charles F. Gograft, of No. 48 Eighth-ave. He denied having been in collusion with the other swindler when taken to the Tombs Police Court yesterday. He was committed for trial.

"As a Last Resort." A Little Girl in Albany, N. Y., Terribly Afflicted, Wonderfully Cured.

One of the most remarkable cures of scrotula on record is that of the little daughter of Mr. M. J. Quinn, 285 First.st., Albany. She was afflicted with scrotula from birth, and physicians said it would be better for her if she was dead. Her father says: "She had thirteen running sores on her body, besides being absolutely blind for months. She lost the body, because using a solutery from nor months. She not the use of her limbs and could not walk; in fact, was a more skeleton wasting away. The smell from the seres was terrible. Seeing in a newspaper some cases of scrottin cured by Hood's Staraparilla, I said to myself. 'I will try a bottle as a last resert.' When she had taken the first half bottle t could see a change in her, and when the whole bottle was taken the abscesses almost entirely her ad with the will be of the was taken the abscesses almost entirely heated with the aid of Hood's Olive Ointment, which I must say is the finest I ever used. I kept on giving her Hood's Sursupartila, till now she is well and healthy, running around. She has a splendid appetite. The neighbors don't know what to make of it."-MICHAEL J. QUINN

CANCER

Cancer for 14 Years. SPARTANBURG. S. C. March 14, 1884.

I have for 14 years been a sufferer from a running sore on my face that everybody called a CANCER. I have used over $800 worth of medicine and found no relief. About four months ago I bought one bottle of Swift's Specific from Dr. H. E. Heinlich, and since have bought fire others, have taken it, and they have CURED ME sound and well: My face is as free from a sore as anybody's, and my health is perfectly record. I feel like forty years had been lifted of my head. Yours, thankfully.

Mr. B. Burns, Hope, Ark., says, under date of Jannary 22, 1884; "I have taken five bottles of Swift's Specific for a sore on my temple—said to be a cancer. I have been wonderfully benefited and will soon be a well man."

Mr. W. R. Robison, Davisboro, Gz., writes, under date Jannary 3, 1884. "I am getting on finely, the older is gradually healing, I feel that Swift's Specific will core the horrible cancer which has been feeding on me for over twenty years."
